FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Inspirational Carle Place Singer Honored

Betty Steinberg of Carle Place was recently presented with a Longevity Award to recognize her 25 years of membership in Sweet Adelines International, a worldwide organization of women singers committed to advancing the musical art form of barbershop harmony through education and performance. Steinberg has spent those 25 years singing with Greater Nassau Chorus, an award-winning chapter of Sweet Adelines International based in Baldwin, NY.

“It makes me feel so good to sing and to hear the harmony and to be involved in it,” Steinberg said. “It’s been a joyful experience.”

Steinberg, who ambulates with a motorized scooter, rehearses and performs while seated in a chair next to the risers. She joins the chorus in shows that have wheelchair-accessible stages.

“Betty is my hero in the chorus,” said Sue Tietjen, a Greater Nassau member who nominated Steinberg for the “Heart of GNC Award” in January to acknowledge the commitment, generosity, and passion she brings to the chorus. “She is a very loving person, and in spite of multiple physical problems, she rarely misses a rehearsal or performance and learns her music on time. I won’t give away her age, but I hope that I can duplicate her accomplishments when I get there.”
